- the EMBEDDIA project investigate methods based on cross-lingual word embeddings, use them to develop technologies for less-resourced languages, and deploy them to produce efficient, accurate applications for the news media industry.
- An important part of the project is development and adaptation of word embedding models that are sensitive to informality, ambiguity and context of use.

Oct. 2018 to current — Statistician on the project, Bioeconomic approach to antimicrobial agents - use and resistance project, West University of Timisoara, Romania.

- The project covers a bio-economic survey of consumption/usage of antimicrobial products.
- The scope is to investigate a resistance of microorganisms (such as coli and Staphylococcus aureus) to antimicrobial products based on dairy cows data.

Apr. 2017 to Aug. 2017 Data Analyst, P3 Communications Engineering Company, Belgrade, Serbia.

- Analyzing and visualization of telecommunication data using Tableau and R.
- Accessing and manipulation data from the cloud.
- Implementing Data Mining techniques using R to Tableau integration.
